

Louis Lyles

Home Address: 11848 Little Seneca Parkway, Clarksburg, MD 20871
240-405-6461 | lyles20000@gmail.com

Objective

M.A. graduate in Psychological Science pursuing a Clinical Psychology Ph.D. in Neuropsychology to integrate neuroimaging, evidence-based assessment, and clinical research to advance understanding of cognitive and affective processes.

Education

Catholic University of America, Washington, DC

Master of Arts, Psychology

August 2022- May 2024

Advisor: Brendan A. Rich, Ph.D.

University of Connecticut, Storrs, CT

Bachelor of Liberal Arts & Science, Psychology

August 2018-May 2022

Minor, Neuroscience

Research Experience

Undergraduate Researcher, Department of Psychology, University of Connecticut

Researcher

February 2021-June 2022

- Conducted neuropsychological testing and managed participant recruitment for EEG studies.
- Led community outreach to support study participation and dissemination.

Graduate Assistant Researcher Department of psychology, Catholic University of America

Independent Researcher

October 2022- May 2024

- Designed and executed fMRI and behavioral studies on anxiety and inhibitory control.
- Presented findings and contributed to hypothesis development.

Clinical Experience

Psychometrist, Neurobehavioral Associates

Columbia, MD

September 2024- Present

- Administer and score neuropsychological batteries for pediatric, adolescent, and adult clients, assessing executive function deficits, learning disorders, ASD, and attention-related conditions.
- Assist neuropsychologists with data interpretation and clinical report preparation to inform diagnosis and treatment planning.