Gina Loskot, M.S.

Education

Loyola University, Maryland, Baltimore, MD, Graduated September 2011
M.S. in Clinical Psychology, Practitioner

Quinnipiac University, Hamden, CT, Graduated Magna Cum Laude May 2009
B.A. in Criminal Justice, B.A. in Psychology, Minor in Mathematics

Professional Experience

Independent Contractor, Registered Psychology Associate, (August 2011 – Present)
Providing services as a Psychometrist to private practices offering psychological, neuropsychological, and neuropsychoeducational assessments to a range of children, adolescents, and adults with neurological and neurodevelopmental disorders

Role: Administer a variety of assessments to clients
      Score assessments and compile summary of score charts
      Document meaningful behavioral observations throughout the evaluation
      Provide training and support to masters and doctoral level externs

Johns Hopkins University, Research Assistant, (June 2011 – October 2012)
Sole staff member assigned to the Correlates of Late Life Sleep Disturbances study examining the possible connection between sleep disturbances and the development of severe memory disorders later in life.
Supervisors: Dr. Jason Brandt, Ph.D., Dr. Mark Wu, M.D., and Dr. Adam Spira, Ph.D.

Role: Administer and score neuropsychological assessments and actigraph data
      Schedule participant PET scans, MRI scans, and Polysomnography studies
      Conduct Clinical Dementia Rating phone interviews with participant informants

NeuroBehavioral Associates, Extern, (August 2010 – August 2011)
An outpatient practice providing neuropsychological consultation and assessment to a range of children, adolescents, and adults with neurological and neurodevelopmental disorders
Supervisor: Dr. Vincent Culotta, Ph.D., ABN.

Role: Administer a variety of assessments to clients; Score assessments

Center for the Treatment of Problem Sexual Behavior, Intern, (January – May 2008)
Statewide education, treatment, and assessment services for sexual offenders under the supervision of probation or parole in Connecticut, aimed at assessing and negating the risk of recidivism
Supervisors: David D'Amora, M.S., LPC, CFC and David Zemke, M.S., LCPC

Role: Enacted a program review of two treatment groups
      Data management of the offender/client database
      Observed clinicians throughout the treatment process

Professional Affiliation

National Association of Psychometrists, Member
Maryland Board of Examiners of Psychologists - Registered Psychology Associate,
  RPA License #A003